Carmen's Messenger

— BY —
HAROLD BINDLOSS

WARD, LOCK & CO., LIMITED
London, Melbourne, and Toronto

By and by he went to the smoking room and lighting a cigarette, he thought over what Carmen had said to him. At first she had seemed anxious to find out something about Featherstone, but he was not surprised by this. Carmen liked to know as much as possible about everybody she met, and used her knowledge cleverly when it was to her advantage. The other matter was more puzzling and he wondered why she wanted to see a pocket secretary to a man as old as her father. It might, of course, be a caprice, because girls were fond of mystery, but, on the other hand, she had a practical object for what she did. She had stated that they had friends in England, and this might mean that she had a lover. Perhaps she had exaggerated his age, and in any case, Foster thought it would not be a great drawback if the man were powerful and rich. Carmen was rather ambitious than romantic.

Her plans, however, were not his business, and he felt no jealousy. He liked Carmen and had some respect for her abilities, but thought she would sooner not marry her, even if she were willing, which was most improbable. Since he had promised to take the packet, he would do so and say nothing about the matter.

He left the hall early, and driving home found his partner sitting by the stove.

"Was Daly at the reunion?" Featherstone asked.

Foster said he was there, and Featherstone, who thoughtfully "It's curious he hasn't come to the mill yet, but if he doesn't turn up before Thursday, he'll be too late. I'll be ready to start with you by the afternoon train, and as there's no use in spoiling a good plan for a few dollars, I'll buy a ticket and check my baggage to Ottawa. Then I'll get off at Streton Creek, where I won't have long to wait if the west-bound train's on time. You can express my things on the Ottawa. The Montreal express stops about an hour."

"That ought to throw Daly off the track," Foster agreed, and they talked about something else.

IV.

The First Adventure

It was about ten o'clock at night and the Montreal express sped through the lonely forests of North Ontario. The train was light, for there were few passengers on board and the road was by no means good, but in spite of the jolting Foster enjoyed his cigarette in a corner of the smoking compartment at the end of a car. A colored porter had told him his berth in the sleeper was ready. Featherstone had left the train, and most of the passengers were already in bed, but Foster did not want to follow them just yet. For a time he had done with business, and was on his way to England. He relished the unusual sense of freedom.

A half moon shone down upon the rugged wilderness, and he could see the black pines rush past. The cars lurched and he heard the great locomotive snort on the inclines. Now and then there was a roar as they sped across a bridge, and water glimmered among the rocks below; afterwards the car sank into a steady clatter and a soothing throb of wheels. The car was warm, and Foster, who had given the porter his overcoat, was lighting another cigarette when a man came in and sat down opposite. He looked hard at Foster, who quietly returned his gaze. The man was about his own height but some years older, and his expression was disturbed.

Foster felt interested. He had faced danger in the northern wilderness, where he had risked starvation and travelled on frozen rivers when the ice was breaking up. Besides he had once or twice been involved in savage fights about disputed mining claims, and knew how men looked when they bore a heavy strain. He thought the stranger was afraid but was not a coward.

"You're going to Ottawa, aren't you?" he heard you talking to your friend," said the man.

"I'm going to Montreal, but don't see what that has to do with you." The other made a sign of impatience. "Well, I dare say you can be trusted, and I've got to take a risk."

"It is a risk to trust a man you don't know," Foster rejoined. "But how can I help?"

"I want you to put on my coat and cap and stay here, reading the Witness, for about ten minutes."

"Holding the newspaper in front of my face, I suppose? Well, it's rather an unusual request and I must know a little more. If there's a detective on your trail and you expect me to hold his attention while you hide or try to jump off the train, I must refuse."

The stranger smiled. "I've wired for the police to meet me at Ottawa; the trouble is that I mayn't get there. Time won't allow of a long explanation, but there are men on board who'd stop at nothing to prevent my arrival. In fact, to some extent, I'm putting my life in your hands."

Foster looked at him, surprised. He had not expected an adventure of this kind on a Canadian Pacific train, but did not think the other was exaggerating.

"How many men?" he asked.

"I've seen one, but know there are more."

"Then why not tell the conductor and have the train searched?"

"It wouldn't work. I might find one enemy, but I'd warn the others that I was on my guard, and to let them think I suspect no danger is the best chance I have. The conductor's making his way up the train and I'm going to see if he can get me into the express car. It's the only safe place; the clerks are armed. Well, my business is lawful and in the public interest and I take you for a patriotic citizen."

Foster saw that he must decide quickly. Somehow he did not doubt the man, who kept his eyes on the door as if he expected somebody to come in. Moreover, he expected to be met by the police at Ottawa.

"It looks as if I'd run your risk when I put on your coat," he said.

"The porter's sweeping up the car, and if you keep the door open you'll be safe while he's about. Besides, if I can't get into the express car, I'll come back. Give me ten minutes, and then, if I don't turn up and you feel uneasy, take off the coat and put the newspaper down."

"Very well," said Foster. "Perhaps you had better take my hat."

The stranger gave him his heavy fur coat. "I'll ask you for it at Ottawa. You're going to Montreal. What's your name?"

Save Food

In a time needing food economy many people are not getting all the nourishment they might from their food.

It is not how much you eat, but how much you assimilate, that does you good.

The addition of a small teaspoonful of Bovril to the diet as a peptogenic before meals leads to more thorough digestion and assimilation and thus saves food, for you need less.

Foster told him and he resumed: "Then, if you don't see me, stop at the Windsor, where I can telegraph in a day or two. You'll be repaid for any expense or inconvenience. Well, I'm going. Thanks!"

"Good luck!" said Foster, who sat down and opened the Witness.

Now he was alone, he began to wonder if he had been imposed upon. The man, however, did not look like a criminal; though alarmed, he had an air of quiet authority. In a sense, it seemed absurd that he should think himself in danger. Violence was not common in Canada, where the carrying of weapons was prohibited, and Foster had never heard of any sensational crime on the big expresses. Still he thought the man would not be afraid without good cause.

A resolution of confidence in the food controller was passed at a meeting held in Brandon, Manitoba, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women.

Improvements in Egg Production

A Few Poor Birds Greatly Reduce the Average of the Good Ones

The efforts of the poultrymen in managing the laying flock should not only be concentrated upon present production, but upon means and methods of increasing future production. Improvements in this line necessitate a close study of the individual, for it is the individual which makes the average, and a few poor birds greatly reduce the average of the good ones. In a flock of 100 hens it will be found that on the average 10 to 30 per cent. rarely lay an egg during the profitable months of the year, and another small percentage may be barren, while the remainder are fairly good layers. The only way is to weed out the poor layers and keep only the best. It often pays better to take one hundred hens out of a flock of one hundred and fifty, after which, with less labor, one can get nearly as many eggs and a much more profitable yield per bird.

Where the selection is not made, the poor birds are fed at the expense of the better ones. Improvement can come largely through the union of two factors: (1) Rigid selection at the end of the pullet year, and the mating of a breeding pen from the best birds. (2) By producing relatively early hatchlings and selecting rigidly throughout the season, keeping only the best youngsters for future production.

How to Avoid a Cold

The idea is to make every muscle of the body tense. The hands can be kept straight at the sides, with the muscles perfectly rigid. Every muscle of the body should be rigid, and in that condition you will soon find that you are breathing hard. When deep breaths are taken, the whole circulation is stimulated. It is possible to sit still, and at the same time have the muscles working as hard as though one were running to catch a train.

If we would remember these points when we feel a chill or a draft we have the word of our physician that we need not fear a cold. —Regina Leader.

STEWART MUNICIPALITY NO. 302

The 2nd meeting of the council of R. M. of Stewart, No. 302, was held at Minor School, on Saturday, Feb. 16th.

All Councillors were present.
Minutes of previous meeting read and accepted on motion of
R. C. Bowman.

A Delegation from Ward 3 petitioned the council to fix the road along the N. 1/4 of Sec. 35-34-5, the said road being impassable at certain times of the year and thus causing a large number of ratepayers trouble in getting to town.

Moved by B. R. Cramer, that if the town of Monitor will furnish material for one bridge, that the R. M. of Stewart will furnish material for another, and erect both on the road allowance along the N. 1/4 of Sec.

35-34-5.

Moved by R. C. Bowman, that
B. R. Cramer be authorized to build a Dipping Vat at the Municipal Pound, according to the plans and specifications on hand. That the job be let by Tender, and that T. Partridge and B. Cramer be authorized to accept tenders and decide same.
Carried

Several inquiries were made to the Council about the enforcement of taxes. In view of the fact that there are $40,000 arrearages of taxes, outstanding, and that as work is plentiful and wages high, it was decided that all taxes would be collected by distress and Tax Enforcement Proceedings.

Moved by T. H. Nood that the next meeting be held at Monitor on Monday the 25th day of March.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which as an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists.

Manitoba Exporting Nursery Stock

A comparatively new departure for Manitoba nurserymen, last year, according to the report of the horticultural department of the Manitoba Agricultural College, was the exportation of nursery stock to the United States. During 1917 a quantity of hardy Manitoba-grown stock was shipped over the border for use in the northern states. No doubt this could be developed to a fairly large industry, as northern-grown stock will undoubtedly give good results farther south.

No one need endure the agony of corns with Holloway's Corn Cure at hand to remove them.

Old Prophecy Fulfilled

An ancient prophecy was fulfilled in the fall of 1916, says the A. F. correspondent at Stockholm. Two years ago the Russians took away from the city a number of valuable bronze and copper articles. Among them was an ancient church bell, around whose rim ran the following inscription in old German: "He who moves me from my place will lose Riga."

The World in the Furnace

Learning to See the Future in a New Perspective

There is no thought, in our own country at least, of surrendering the ideals or abandoning the purpose with which we went into the war, but we are beginning to see the future in a new perspective. We have begun for the first time to realize the world as a whole. The settlement for which we look is to be a settlement conceived in the interests of no single nation, nor for the calculated detriment of any single nation. The world has been cast into the furnace (fragment by fragment). It must emerge welded into an unbroken whole. It is that resolve that has given the gospel of the League of Nations its impetus in every land, that is impelling Labor to reframe an international council of democracy and stirring even the Christian caution of the Christian churches into an incipient attempt to reassert the universality of the religion they have professed for thousands of years. The spread of that spirit will not yet end the war, but it will at least spread the soil for the reality and truth a world set free. — London Daily News.

Ringworm on Child's Head

Caused Great Distress and Took for Neck and Ears — Cure Was Speedily Effected When Right Treatment Was Recommended.

There is no disease of the skin more obstinate than ringworm, and the mother who writes this letter does so fully realizing what it will mean to other anxious mothers to know about Dr. Chase's Ointment. This remarkable cure was brought about two years ago, and as there has been no return of the distressing disease there can be no doubt that the cure is permanent.

Mrs. D. Stebbins, Grand Bend, Ont., writes: "I am going to tell you of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. My little girl had sores come out on her head which looked like ringworms. They were spreading fast and I tried home treatment, but nothing helped her. I took her to the doctor, and he opened some of the sores, which were as big as the yolk of an egg. The salve he gave me to put on was very severe, and the poor child would cry for an hour or more after an application. For six weeks it continued to spread all over her head, and came down to her neck and ears. She suffered terribly. At last some kind ladies told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I got a tube of it the first time I put it on she was relieved of pain, and the second time the swelling was all gone. Before we had finished the first box the sores were nearly all gone. I have told all the people around here about your Ointment, and I cannot praise it too much. It is now two years since my little girl was troubled in this way, and it never came back so you can see she is completely cured. You are at liberty to publish this statement for the benefit of others who may be suffering in a similar manner."

Joseph Brenner, J. L., endorses this statement, following: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mrs. D. Stebbins of Grand Bend, Ont., and believe her statement with reference to Dr. Chase's Ointment to be true and correct."

The Case of Belgium
It is still as important as ever that the case of Belgium should be regarded as precedent to peace negotiations. The enemy have never acknowledged the wrong they perpetrated in attacking Belgium, and must have confession, with full guarantees for restoration and reparation before we can enter into negotiations with the enemy. If proof of this is required, it will be found in the fact that the pan-Germans are still proclaiming that "Belgium must be made to lie flat politically, militarily and economically in Germany's hand." — The Scotsman.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, etc.

A Unique Concert
A description of a unique concert which I have read in a German paper (says a writer in the Daily News and Leader) deserves to be rescued from oblivion. In one of the prisoners' camps sat a number of Russian musicians, who have formed a chorus and an orchestra, which are apparently no good to the inhabitants of the nearest town were anxious to hear them. The commander of the camp accordingly agreed to allow them to give a concert of Russian sacred music in the principal church of the town. Germany always has an eye to business nowadays, and the takings, which were considerable, were devoted to the benefit — not of the Russian prisoners, but of German prisoners in Russia. Among the singers, I see, were two who have appeared with the Russian opera company at Drury Lane.

The Nemesis of Germany

The remark of a French officer that history will prove to be the German's worst enemy is true and profound one. The lack of honor, of faith, of truth, of all moral and humane considerations will stand against that race for generations to come, and make their dealings with other nations exceedingly difficult. For years in the future they will be feared, hated and despised, and it will be a herculean task to regain the place in world public opinion which their present leaders have so wantonly forfeited. — Baltimore American.

We have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in our home for a number of years and use no other. I can recommend it highly for sprains, bruises, pains or tightness of the chest, soreness of the throat, headache or anything of that sort. We will not be without it one single day, for we get a new bottle before the other is all used. It can recommend it highly to anyone.

How the Boys Can Help

A novel and practical plan to use school boys to assist in keeping pigs and thus to help in the campaign for increased hog production in Canada has been taken up by the council of the Hamilton board of trade.

A Poe to Asthma. Give Asthma half a chance and it gains ground rapidly. But give it repeated treatments of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy and it will fall back — even faster. There is no half way measure about this remedy. It goes right to work and drives asthma out. It cures the most intractable cases, passages and leaves no place for the trouble to lurk. Have it by you for ready use.

SELF DEFENSE

DEFEAT BACKACHE AND KIDNEY TROUBLE WITH ANURIC.

Many people in Canada have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found Anuric to be the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have heeded Nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "Anuric." You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizziness, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions you should take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (double strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the great hundreds of Anuric, as are many of your neighbors.

Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., or Bridgeport, Ont., for trial pack, 25¢. — Colburns.

I suffered with gravel and with uric acid, causing rheumatic pains. Nothing ever helped me until I commenced to take Anuric, and the first thing I noticed was that the gravel had disappeared and has never made a reappearance. My general health has improved and I have a better nerve condition and my tonight seems better too. I have been taking Anuric at times I thought I would faint, but no longer trouble me. My only regret is that I did not know of Anuric sooner. — Mrs. H. MARSHALL, 124 Albert St.

Bakers Helping Food Controller

Expressed Their Willingness to Do Anything in Their Power to Help

The bakers of Canada are co-operating with the food controller in an effort to bring about a saving in the consumption of wheat flour in the Dominion, so that larger quantities may be released for export to the Allies overseas. At the annual meeting of the Ontario Bread and Cake Manufacturers' association, held in Toronto lately, professor R. Harcourt, head of the department of chemistry, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, represented the food controller. The bakers expressed their willingness to do anything in their power to help in the attainment of the food controller's objects. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions outlining the views of the association.

AWOMAN'S HEALTH

Can Only Be Maintained by Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls in her health. Her broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headache, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many, and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and the cure at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unailing way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you.

Mrs. W. H. Albergy, Marlborough, Ont., says: "I was very weak, nervous and nervous. At times I did not know what to do, as I would shake all over and grope under me, and I would down. I was treated by several doctors, who said the trouble was bad blood and weak nerves, but they did not do me a bit of good. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they made me feel like a new woman. Later when I was nursing my baby, I felt run down, and again took the pills. My baby, at six months weighed thirty-five pounds. It was this medicine that gave me the strength to nurse him, and by his help I was able to get on my feet. I hope every suffering woman will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial as I did, for I have proved their value to me. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail post-paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

After the Proposal

She—Yes, Jack dear, but you must ask father's consent first.
He—You ask him. You know him better than I do.

With so thorough a preparation at hand as Miller's Worm Powders the mother who allows her children to suffer from the ravages of worms is unwise and culpably careless. A child subjected to the attacks of worms is always unhealthy and will be stunted in its growth. It is a merciful act to rid it of these destructive parasites, especially when it can be done without difficulty.

Some Going

An Outward Sign of the Wealth of Saskatchewan

The number of automobiles in Saskatchewan at the end of the past year totalled 32,000—an increase of a hundred per cent. over 1916. Saskatchewan has almost one-third of the total number of automobiles in Canada, according to the statistics issued by the automobile industry at the end of the year. Yet Saskatchewan has only one-tenth of the population of the Dominion.

Saskatchewan has as many automobiles in proportion to her population as the United States—one car to every twenty-four people is the standing in the United States just now, and that is the standing in Saskatchewan, too. No other country has anything like a proportionate number.

One reason for this condition is the fact that Saskatchewan has the money, field and garden crops and dairy products in the past year brought brought in for a total of $30,000,000, and increased value of live stock brought the total over $400,000,000 for the year. — Saskatoon Star.

Wounded 97 Times

Battle wounds are not nearly so serious as many suppose. In this war a bullet through the arm or leg usually means nothing worse than sitting around reading books or magazines in the base hospital for a while. Colonel C. D. Dery, physician of the French army, now visiting Canada, carries scars of ninety-seven wounds and still has ten fragments of shell in his body. Recently he pointed to himself before the clinical congress of surgeons as an example of what medical science is accomplishing at the front. Though they may be a little sore, he said, he could live to be able to go back again to the service of my country," he said.

Belgian War Dog

Twice Wounded by Shrapnel. But Never Once Deserted.

Nellie, celebrated war dog, brought to this country by the Belgian mission, is dead in Washington, D. C. The passing of a member of the mission itself would scarcely cause more grief among them.

At the first battle of Ypres Nellie trotted along beside her owner, a British officer, into the rain of shrapnel and high explosive shells, with only the thought of being near her master. He fell, she only wounded, wandered about No Man's Land until picked up by Major Osterlitz of the Belgian 1st Regiment of Guides.

Nellie lived with the Belgian regiment in the trenches for many months, always ready to "go over the top." Twice she was wounded by shrapnel, but she never deserted.

When Major Osterlitz came to this country with the Belgian mission Nellie came along, and thousands of Americans have seen her twinkling eyes and her stubby graying tail. Death was due probably to a combination of wounds and age, but she always will be remembered by her comrades as a real heroine.

KEEP LITTLE ONES

WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are so changeable—one bright, the next cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or gripple. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THOSE AWFUL CRAMPS

Suggestions that may save

We Must Keep on Fighting

To Stop Fighting Now Is to Surrender What Has Been Gained

We have got to fight the German until he abandons his prey, until he quits his attempt to enslave the Frenchman, the Belgian, the Italian, the Pole, the Serb, and the Lithuanian. To stop fighting now is to surrender, as the Russian has found out to his sorrow. We are all of us fighting for our lives and our lives were never in greater danger than at this precise moment. It may be necessary to stop fighting and explain why we are defending our lives, but the delay makes neither for effective fighting on our part nor for weaker efforts on the part of our foe. We are not going to conquer or cure the German by words. If we win at all it will be by our artillery and not by our phrases.—New York Tribune.

A Purely Vegetable Pill.—The chief ingredients of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are mandrake and dandelion, sedative and purgative, but perfectly harmless in their action. They cleanse and purify and have a most healthful effect upon the secretions of the digestive organs. The dyspeptic and all who suffer from liver and kidney ailments will find in these pills the most effective medicine in concentration for the ailments yet been offered to the suffering.

A Colonel on Leadership.—A colonel (last of a writer in the Evening Standard) was speaking of the great essentials in leadership, and he gave them in this order:

(1) Pre-eminence. (2) Be human; getting in touch with the men and taking a personal interest in them, treating them as men and not as mere machines. (3) Knowing your job; self-confidence inspiring confidence and courage in others.

(4) Determination and concentration, intensity of purpose.

(5) A sane optimism, looking on the bright side but with a due sense of proportion.

Western Woman Speaks

With Enthusiasm

MRS. R. ECKFORD TELLS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

She Says They Are "All Right," and Gives Her Reasons for Saying So.—Why They Are Popular on the Prairies.

Leslieville, Alta. (Special).—It is with true Western enthusiasm that Mrs. R. Eckford of this place, gives her opinion of Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I wish to inform you that Dodd's Kidney Pills are all right," says Mrs. Eckford.

"I have only taken two boxes, and my back is fine. Of course I will keep on taking them whenever I think my kidneys are not just right."

"Your Diamond Dinner Pills are dandy, too," Mrs. Eckford added. "I keep them in the house, and take one occasionally as a remedy."

What strikes one most on the prairies is the warm praise the people give Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are used for all kidney troubles, including backache, rheumatism, lumbago, heart disease, diabetes, and dropsy and Bright's disease, and their popularity is the proof of the good work they are doing. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the standard Canadian kidney remedy.

Daylight Saving

One hour of daylight saving, beginning May 1, would save 900,000 tons of coal. The country is now observing lightless nights, but there is no reason, when the days grow longer, why we should not take advantage of an extra hour of daylight—which can be had without expense and without hardship. Congress should pass daylight saving legislation without delay.—Chicago Tribune.

California Efficiency

There is an efficiency man in San Diego who carries his profession to excess. He has a girl who lives in Los Angeles. He visits her every Sunday and writes every day. For want of a new topic the girl asked him in a recent communication if he really did like her eyes. In reply the am. replied: "Replying to your inquiry of even date, beg to refer you to my letter, Feb. 24, 1917, wherein the subject was treated exhaustively."

Expectations

Perhaps the briefest funeral oration ever delivered was that of an old negro of Mississippi over the body of another of his race who had borne a very bad reputation. Tear Gas at Movie

At a cinema theatre at Bromley, England, on Saturday, a curious smell pervaded the building, and in a few moments the eyes of almost everyone began to water. The fumes spread to the operating box, and the men were so affected they could not continue their work. The audience, complaining of sickness, and many with eyes red and swollen. An officer said the effect was like that produced by "tear shells." Three soldiers were seen to leave shortly before the fumes were noticed, and there is a suspicion they had liberated some gas as a joke.

HUNS ADVANCING PREPAREDNESS FOR THE GREAT WAR TO FOLLOW

SAY THAT GREAT BRITAIN MUST BE CONQUERED

Recent German Publications Show the Effect the Sword-Rattlers Are Having on the Minds of the People in Enemy Countries, For Whom Peace Talk has no Real Meaning

Sword rattling has been elevated to a religion in Germany, writes Julian Grande from Bern, Switzerland, to the New York Times, and he warns those persons who want "peace by understanding" that Germany, far from being cured of the war spirit, is actually educating her people to the necessity of another war to follow this one.

This "next war" literature advocates six main ideas concerning the desirability of war for itself. They are:

- (1) War and its good moral influence are praised and enthusiastically dwelt upon, especially because of their being of such assistance in promoting civilization.
- (2) The idea of universal peace is scoffed at and contempt poured upon advocates.
- (3) Every possible argument is adduced for the increase of armaments after the war.
- (4) Certain of these publications stated in them that preparations must already be begun for this future war.
- (5) Definite proposals are made concerning methods of preparations for the "next war."

The most audacious of the German sword-rattlers are the German professors. Professor Rudolph Eucken of Jena argues that war and civilization are not opposed as might appear to be the case. This learned doctor asserts that war destroys all slanders and brings truth to light; it preserves people from artificiality and effeminacy; it causes the regeneration of mankind and the rejuvenation of civilization.

Another man, Professor E. Brandenburg, in a book called "Germany's Aims in the War," published only last year, concludes that the world's history shows natural laws and not ethical laws. This gentleman is of the opinion that a court of law for the decision of international disputes would be a serious obstacle to healthy progress. After the war Germany must continue to pile up armaments in order to insure her future. "In future Germany must be more strongly armed than ever, both at sea and on land."

Other German professors write in the same strain. One of them says that "Pacifism is madness," and that "the German people cannot be too strongly warned against pacifism." This gentleman adds the following as to the relationship between nations: "What we want is not to make moral conquests in the world, but that the world should fear us. Between individual human beings love is the surest basis for union and peace, but between individual nations it is force and force only."

A commercial authority, in a book called "Peace Time Problems," points out that Britain must be conquered and brought low. Britain is to be the object of Germany's next war.

German divines, far from condemning this doctrine, are quite in accord with it. A collection of fourteen war sermons, published in 1917, actually contains the assertion that "we Germans" can advance only by the "force of our arms."

All this literature has been gathered and its trend noted in a publication issued by Dr. F. Lifschitz, a professor in Bern University, Switzerland. He shows, in his article, that the process of educating the zealous mind as to the necessity of further war to follow the present one, already being put into active operation. As the writer in The New York Times points out, peace by a understanding means nothing more or less than a German peace, and a German peace means more or less temporary armistice to last until Germany has completed her preparations for the "next war."

First Ode to the Kaiser

Diabolic Inversions of the Truth and Decency as Expounded by the Hun

George Ade has come to the support of the committee on national defence and issued a sort of primer for those who run and read, setting out Kultur and the ethics of the Kaiser as the celebrated author of "Fables in Slacks" sees them. With all their humor they are true to type as wit can make them.

Dishonesty is the best policy. Blessed are the child-murderers, for they shall inherit the earth. Be sure you are right handy with fire-arms.

An evil reputation is better than riches.

Truth crushed to earth, will not rise again; the crushing is done in a superior and efficient manner. Thrice armed is he who goes around picking quarrels.

Might makes right.

Hell on earth, and hatred to all men. Do unto others, as you suspect that they might do unto you; the ever get to be as disreputable as you are.

Gods helps the man that helps himself; in his neighbor's house and his fields and his unprotected women.

These apt apothegms of Kultur are put into practice every day as the news despatches prove. And with many, Ade's nonsense will be more efficacious as an argument than the indictments of less humorously inclined writers. But he overlooks the one great commandment of Kultur, which is the keynote of the whole campaign of world conquest, and that is "Do others first and explain afterwards." This is the first, the last, and the main of all their other diabolic inversions of truth and decency—Philadelphi Public Ledger.

Poland as a Bone of Contention

May Yet Cause Trouble Between Germany and Austria

Poland may yet cause trouble between Germany and Austria. The Tagliche Rundschau describes the proposed Polish settlement as "an astonishing demand upon the nerves, patience and good humor of the German nation." It continues:

"If the Hapsburg kaiser of Austria is, with our approval, to be crowned king of Poland, then the last trace of any German rights or influence in Poland will have vanished. We shall ourselves have done what no power in the world could have otherwise done, and our troops in Poland will only be Hapsburg police and our three years' sacrifices will have been made, not for ourselves, but for other people. Our position in Poland at the general peace conference will have been completely thrown away. Who has the courage to do this fateful thing. Not a chancellor, for in reality we have no chancellor, but an irresponsible foreign secretary. It is he, Kuehlmann, who during the interregnum of twilight between the old and the new era has been busy deciding Austria's fate. What could be more fatal than a Hapsburg Poland? It would, too, be a thorn in the flesh between us and Austria-Hungary."

"She hasn't kept pace with her husband."

"Who do you mean? Hasn't she been able to spend his money as fast as his salary was raised?"—Detroit Free Press.

"Castles in the Air"

Viennese Paper Says Hope of a Peace Imposed by the World Is Fallacious

Proofs multiply of the war weariness and disillusionment of Austrians. The cables report an outbreak of criticism of the war party, but this is nothing new. In November one of the principal Viennese papers, Die Zeit, in an article headed "Castles in the Air," was not unreasonable as wholly futile and incapable of accomplishment the program of the war party in Germany and Austria.

Any one, says the Zeit, who, like so many persons in Germany today, but, fortunately, not so many in Austria, still believes in the possibility of a peace imposed by the world, the sword must have profited absolutely not at all by the lessons of this war. A peace dictated by Austria and Germany to the rest of the world is the last link in a chain of notions which have one after the other proved false. At the outbreak of the war, the Zeit was not unreasonable as wholly futile and incapable of accomplishment the program of the war party in Germany and Austria.

Above all, we had then, but, at the outbreak of the war, the Zeit was not unreasonable as wholly futile and incapable of accomplishment the program of the war party in Germany and Austria.

Most hopes of all were built upon America, which was considered as the leading power among neutrals, and with its help it was hoped to overthrow the other neutrals. Bales upon bales of propaganda writings were despatched to neutral countries for the time of scarce paper had not arrived.

It was all of no avail. We have not won over a single neutral country. On the contrary, concludes Die Zeit, even countries which have hitherto remained neutral are no longer able to conceal their aversion to our cause and their positive hatred of the Germans.

Another "castle in the air" was the notion that the central empires were self-sufficient and did not need raw materials or communications with the rest of the world. "We were assured," says Die Zeit, by all those whom it irreverently designated as "fools," that "the world would supply us with any quantity of raw materials; that Egypt had endless supplies of cotton; that in Australia there were unlimited stocks of wheat and minerals; finally, that everything any one could possibly want was to be had in abundance in the world." The only drawback to the Egyptian cotton was that Turkey had first to reconquer Egypt from England. A disadvantage of unknown value and ore was the absence of means of transport, while a somewhat serious drawback to the Mesopotamian supplies of "everything" was that Mesopotamia first required irrigation, and, secondly, that the British were there, sitting tight, and apparently disinclined to move.

Finally, there was a third "castle in the air," a castle based upon the last two—the enforced peace. After the war, the Zeit writes, it perceives that "We Austrians" will have "to resume commercial relations with our enemies, avowed and unavowed, but it is not possible to compel these to do so."

"Good Night, Ladies!"

Americans in the Trenches are Not to Be Set Dreaming of Fair Unknowns

General Pershing has put a ban on romance by his urging that the Soldiers' Godmothers' League cease its organized attempt to introduce into the American army the institution of Fillen and Mairaine. He adduces as his chief reason that the correspondence between lonely soldiers in France and their godmothers on our side of the water would clog the transport of necessary mail and supplies. His secondary reason is that he does not want his soldiers corresponding with strange women. Perhaps he means to imply that information of use to the enemy might be obtained by spies in this manner. Perhaps he is thinking of the proprieties. In any case, the American soldiers are to be robbed of a highly picturesque feature of the war. Men in the trenches "are not to be set dreaming of fair unknowns." Ladies of all ages are not to have the fun of petting some huge bear of a person three thousand miles away. General Pershing has ordered the correspondence between lonely soldiers and army letters. On the other hand, he has reduced the possibility of disillusionment when Fillen meets Mairaine.—New York Evening Post.

Chinamen still observe the religious ceremony of "feeding the dead." The Chinese intend as a propitiatory offering to the Chinese evil spirit. The offerings vary according to the habits and tastes of the occupants of the graves.

TIME IS WORKING HARD ON HAND WITH THE CAUSE OF THE ALLIES

IN THE MATTER OF THE ECONOMIC STRAIN

If the Allies Can Successfully Pass Through the Straits of the Present Winter, Increased Man-Power and Resources Should Prove the Winning Factor in the Great World Struggle

What a Hun Officer Saw

Enemy Troops Have Terrifying Experience Dodging British Shells

The following extracts from the diary of an officer of a living company of German infantry are authentic. They are interesting as giving a glimpse at the attitude and feelings of the Hun.

The company is to go into the line, and starts at 9:30 p.m. "Light machine guns are distributed. The close combat troops are given signal cloths and very light ammunition."

"It is raining, and very dark. Forward march at ease, and the company starts on its way."

"Platoons march separately, at one hundred yards distance, as the road is not safe."

"There is little shelling and everyone is alone with his thoughts."

"We are passing through a pretty and fairly large town. Not a soul at the windows, which have no panes. Here and there a house destroyed by shell fire. Our footsteps echo mournfully on the pavement."

"Violent artillery fire makes the air quiver as we cross the market place, which has been torn by shells. We have reached the cross roads where the road branches. We turn down from here, and the order is given. In single file, right turn. Each man takes his position behind his leader, and we form one long line."

"It is wiser to march this way, as like this we present less of a target. Ten minutes later a six-inch shell explodes behind us with a terrific crash, spurring up mud sky high."

"The fuse flies off, winding a trail of light in its flight. A second shell falls thirty yards in front of us in a farmyard. I give the order, 'At the double,' and we start running."

"Left and right shells are falling, and it appears to us that the English are observing us, so do shells and shrapnel pursue us, often exploding a bare ten yards from us in the mud, showering filth and stones on us. 'At the double all the time,' I urge on the men, 'push laden with your heavy packs, never only to crawl, and are bathed in perspiration.'

"How the air crackles, hisses howl, and whistles as a heavy shell cleaves it. Involuntarily everyone stops dead, waiting for it to explode in our midst."

"The three battery pits—that is to say, they used to be good, concrete dugouts; now they are destroyed, having been blown up at the time of the great retreat in this area. Our leaving us not be brought back over the shell-torn ground, so they had to be destroyed."

"We all believed that the English would push on further, but they contented themselves with the high ground. They have a wonderful position there, leaving us destroyed shelters and dugouts to the south of it."

"We establish posts. The troops have relieved start back. These dugouts are dark caves and holes. No one can lie down in them, or even stretch out their legs. Everyone wants to get under shelter. Several crouch together in a corner."

"It is wretchedly cold."

Here an end. Our people took the diarist before he wrote any more.

Alfalfa in B. C.

Fine Alfalfa Seed Is Grown in British Columbia

Seed experts who have visited the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia, in the last two years have suggested that this climate should lend itself excellently to seed-raising. It has already been demonstrated what can be done in selecting and sowing crops for seed purposes and now a very satisfactory experiment with alfalfa seed sowing has just been completed at Kelowna, British Columbia. Last year Casorso Bros. saved a small plot of alfalfa for seed and this year reserved a field of about three acres for this purpose. The crop has just been threshed by the government seed-huller and the results are very satisfactory.

The crop threshed out 900 lbs. of good seed, and it is estimated that the value of the alfalfa straw will nearly cover the cost of production, so that the seed in present prices should yield a good profit.

Horse Breeders' Clubs

In Western Canada there are approximately 70 Horse Breeders' Clubs with federal assistance. 15 of these are in Manitoba, about 10 in Saskatchewan, and about 15 in Alberta. It is expected that a great many more will be formed in the near future. This winter, since those that have been inaugurated are so enthusiastic over the results obtained.

There is the factor of which too much has been made in the past and not nearly enough is made in the present. It is the economic factor. Both parties to this great struggle, even if we only now consider them as the western alliance vs. the central empires, are under a great economic strain. Labor has been withdrawn from the fields on either side. One side has overseas supplies, but finds communication by sea increasingly difficult. Each might argue, if it were a question of pleading one's own case, that the other was under a greater economic strain than the one. But the fact remains that, whereas the Allies have complete resources—though these resources have to be husbanded and regulated—the central empires have incomplete resources; they are debarred from tropical products of every kind. They cannot get rubber, for instance; they are and will remain short of certain essentials of which the most important is fats—both for lubrication and for food—fats which will continue to lack in a degree far greater than we lack them.

Again, the mere man-power for production, with a margin over and above the normal peacetime requirements for the field, is heavily in favor of the Allies. It is true that the United States has kept many very large forces in Europe, because a very large force 3,000 miles from its source of supply requires a correspondingly enormous tonnage (say six tons per man) and the tonnage does not yet exist. But what the Allies have got is a margin or overplus of human beings to mine, to forge, to carpenter, to plow, and the rest, much greater than the central empires, even with the population they have available.

The conclusion is that though for some little time to come the western alliance will again be "thrown"—short of policy, accidents, and such things—before a forecast—upon the defensive, its margin of supply—upon which everything ultimately depends—is greater and will more and more be greater, than that of its enemy. The enemy knows that, and Allied public opinion should be instructed upon it. It means that if we pass through the straits of the present winter the next year should be in our favor.—From Land and Water.

British Farmers are After Sports

Are sheep to be sacrificed to grouse? The question is raised by a writer in the British Agricultural Gazette, and the sheep-keepers object strongly to shepherds claiming the right to a free pass over the moors. Thousands of sheep, the writer adds, "are thus bullied off their natural feeding grounds."

But there are prospects that this state of affairs will be righted as the result of the sheep-breeding campaign. "From Chapel-en-le-Frith to Doncaster, meetings have been held to consider the matter, and these local efforts, supported by the Sheep Breeders' association, give promise that this folly, committed in the name of sport, will be ended now, and, it is to be hoped, for all time."

Japan's Trade

Reaping the benefit of the elimination of Germany from commercial competition, Japan has enjoyed great prosperity during the last two years. She has now entered the piano trade, and is exporting an upright at the price of one hundred and thirty-five dollars. Five hundred pianos have already been exported to Australia.

COPENHAGEN CHEWING TOBACCO

Simply Place It in The Mouth

Between Lowest Lip and Gums. This is the way to get all the flavor and satisfaction out of every pinch of Copenhagen Chewing Tobacco.

You see, "Copenhagen" is made of the best, old, high-flavored leaf tobacco. The moist process—by which the leaf tobacco is converted into fine grains, and selected and prepared—retains all the good of the tobacco.

Those who are trying "Copenhagen" for the first time, should remember to use only a small pinch at a time, and place the pinch in the mouth between the lower lip and the gums, without any attempt at chewing it.

"It's the most economical chew."
